Good evening and welcome to the third annual writers' convention. As you may know, this year we are honoring one of the most popular writers of the last twenty years—Robert Taylor. A novelist, poet, and journalist, Mr. Taylor is perhaps best known for his novel, The Houseguests. Tonight, he will be reading selections from his newest book, Morning Breaks.

Scene 1:

MA: Hi, this is Jason Moore, and I bought a new suit at your store last week. The sleeves were too long on the jacket, so I had the tailor at your store alter them. He fixed them, and I picked the suit up, but I didn't have time to try it on. And now I just put it on, and the sleeves are still too long! I have a job interview early next week, that's why I bought this suit, but I'm not going to be able to wear this. So...can you let me know what you can do, because I really need something to wear to my job interview. Again, this is Jason Moore. Please call me as soon as you can at 555-9898.
